

Deborah Abbott
Assistant Director, Communications and Outreach
Indiana State Department of Agriculture

Deborah Abbott is the Assistant Director, Communications and Outreach for the Indiana State Department of Agriculture. Prior to joining ISDA, Deb spent seven years with the Ohio Department of Agriculture as a Public Information Officer, communicating consumer and food safety issues and regulatory programs. Before joining state service, Deb held communications positions with the Ohio Cattlemen's Association and Ohio Beef Council and the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Deb is a native of Boone County Indiana, where she graduated from Zionsville Community High School and was a 10-year 4-H member. She has two bachelor degrees from Purdue University, one in agriculture communications and a second in animal science. Deb currently lives south of Lebanon.